

JUSTICE

WHAT CLIENTS GAIN FROM OUR EXPERTISE

- You only get one time to build. For this reason, you will gain from hiring a construction company with experience, integrity, and a strong history of performance.
- Your justice project will benefit your community. We always promote the hiring of local labor, vendors, and suppliers.
- Your justice facility will be built in the shortest time possible. We can fast-track projects by overlapping design, permitting, and construction.
- Our in-depth knowledge in areas like security and durable finishes also help speed the process along.
- As your justice facility experiences growth, space for future expansions become valuable. We will plan for the future in all of our decisions.

Exceeding Local Participation Expectations - With our InTown local purchasing program, you will see the highest degree of local participation possible. InTown first exhausts every means to include local contractors at the subcontractor/trade level. We then ask what we can do beyond the typical construction procurement process to have a greater, longer-lasting impact for the Bourbon County community. This impact includes creating job opportunities for individuals, creating internship and apprenticeship opportunities for youth, and helping to publicize Bourbon County's commitment to local procurement. InTown is truly unique in the industry because it creates growth opportunities that continue to have impact after the work is done.

InTown typically consists of 13 actions with our primary focus being local subcontractor and supplier participation. Additional steps are taken to preserve individual job opportunities for local citizens, to offer professional development opportunities for local youth and to encourage overall local support for the project.
